Teller 'Petrified' During Robbery

Cleveland Bomb Bandit Gets $2,500

CLEVELAND (AP) — A man who threatened an auto teller with a bottle which he said contained an explosive got $2,500 in a holdup Friday at the University Circle Branch of the National City Bank.

The teller, Mrs. Mary McClurg, said the man drove up to her window and dropped a plain envelope containing a note into the sliding drawer used to serve customers. The note said in part:

"I want $50,000. This bottle contains nitroglycerine. Put the money in an envelope and pass it out to me or I will throw it against the bullet-proof window."

The man made a threatening gesture with a small bottle he was holding after she read the note, the teller said.

Mrs. McClurg said when she told the robber she didn't have $50,000 he demanded that she give him "all the money that's wrapped."

She handed out some wrapped money and when the robber demanded "more" she told him she didn't have anymore and then dropped to the floor. The robber drove away.

Mrs. McClurg, 48, said she was "petrified" when she read the robber's note and saw him motion with the bottle and could barely make the movements of putting the money in the drawer and shoving it out again.

She said she dropped to the floor because she thought it would protect her from injury if the man threw the bottle against the window. After the robber drove away she telephoned another teller who sounded the alarm.

Police said it was unlikely there was anything dangerous in the bottle, particularly easily-detonated nitroglycerine.

Four Persons Injured In Road Mishaps

Four persons were slightly injured in two Salem area auto accidents today and Friday. Lisbon and Canfield post highway patrolmen said.

Suffering a possible fractured nose at 1 a.m. today was Charles Cooper, 17, of Youngstown. His passenger, Raymond Wilson, 16, of Youngstown sustained a cut mouth and forehead when Cooper lost control of his car which hit a tree after running off the right side of Kirk Rd., just north of Canfield. He was arrested for reckless operation.

Judy Ann Hall, 17, and Delmer W. Hardy, 16, both of Rd 1, East Rochester suffered minor cuts and bruises about 7:30 last night when Hardy's auto struck a vehicle driven by Robert Arnold, 66, of Alliance while attempting to pass.

Patrolmen said Hardy's 1959 auto rolled over twice and came to rest on its wheels in the left lane of County Rd. 404 near Lake Westville. The couple was treated at Central Clinic. Hardy was arrested for reckless operation.

Youngstown Local Challenges Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Ohio teamsters are challenging James R. Hoffa, on an issue important to every one of the 1½ million members of the Teamsters Union.

This is the issue: Can any member of a teamsters local in good standing run for office?

As it happens, the answer to that question, put just that way, happens to be "No." That is what the fight is about. Some members of Teamsters Local 377 in Youngstown say the answer should be "Yes."

Hoffa disagrees. He says anyone running for office should not only be in good standing but shall have paid his dues 30 days in advance. He points out that the union's constitution says this. But the Youngstown dissidents reply that this is purely a technicality designed to prevent people like themselves from running against pro-Hoffa local officers, in this case the Youngstown local officers.

At this point, they have the courts agreeing with them. Hoffa, though isn't satisfied and is appealing the ruling to the Supreme Court.

The significance of all this is that if the Supreme Court also backs the Youngstown anti-Hoffa group, more members of locals throughout the country may be encouraged to run against pro-

Measure Averts Mass Stock Sale

Court's Order Severs DuPont and GM Ties

CHICAGO (AP)—A federal court order severing corporate ties between Du Pont and General Motors without forcing a mass stock sale calmed fears in the financial world today.

Du Pont's president said he was gratified with the ruling which generally followed a proposal made by Du Pont attorneys.

The government, which had asked sale and distribution of Du Pont's 63 million shares of GM stock, has not said whether it will appeal the decision. Its attorneys said they are studying the long decree.

First reaction in financial circles was unanimous that the ruling was favorable to both sides. U.S. Dist. Court Judge Walter J. La Bay, late Friday after domestic stock exchanges closed for the weekend, held that the distribution was not necessary.

Government attorneys had asked distribution of the GM shares, worth some 3½ billion dollars, as a means of ending a Clayton Antitrust Law violation. The Supreme Court held such a violation resulted from Du Pont's possession of the shares, comprising 23 per cent of the outstanding GM stock.

Judge La Bay said in his 101-page printed order that the government plan was "unnecessarily harsh and punitive."

His solution to the problem was a ban on voting rights for Du Pont on its GM stock, and other bars to influence by Du Pont interests upon GM management affairs.

The order, latest development in the government's 10-year effort to sever the two industrial giants, besides shifting Du Pont's voting rights in its GM stock to individual Du Pont stockholders.

1. Bars Du Pont—E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., the big chemical holding—and two Du Pont family firms, the Christiana Securities Co. and the Delaware Realty and Investment Corp., from acquiring any additional stock interest or influence in GM.

2. Prohibits the Christiana and Delaware firms from voting GM

130 Attend Meeting Of Poultry Assn.

Over 130 persons attended the 25th annual meeting of the Northeast Ohio Poultry Association at its plant in Columbiana Friday, according to Floyd Lower, county extension agent in agriculture.

C. M. Ferguson, administrator, federal Extension Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, was the guest speaker.

A tour of the plant in the morning was followed by a lunch. Tom Newson, manager of the association, presented his yearly report at the afternoon meeting.

The report showed that the plant handled 5,145,878 pounds of chickens and 3,032,950 dozens of eggs. The volume of business last year totaled $2,463,351.

Community Chest Agencies (No. 5)

YW Serves Over 1,000 Residents

More than 1,000 Salem area residents are benefiting from a Community Chest agency which is dedicated to moral and spiritual development of women.

The Young Women's Christian Association, now in its third year locally, serves approximately 500 adults and 500 minors through a program of education and crafts.

The $7,000 grant to the YWCA allocated in the 1960 Community Chest budget will be used to pay the salaries of three employees and to cover the maintenance expenses of the year-old "Y" headquarters on N. Lincoln Ave. Born in England 103 years ago, the YWCA uses programs which "care deeply about the welfare of each person and the society as a whole." The basic function of the association is to take the "meaninglessness" out of life and to encourage participants to attain real growth morally and spiritually.

But the "Y" as other organizations, has its problems in trying to serve the citizens of Salem to the utmost.

"We have a very small sub-teen group (girls up to age 12). We need more volunteer leaders," YW leaders explain. They are attempting to enlarge the voluntary leadership group and obtain more equipment, the lack of which also handicaps the growth of programs for the younger girls.

The Y-teens, girls from 12 to 17 years old, are perhaps the most active group working through the YWCA. During the year they

Khrushchev At Climax of Visit

Red Leader Eases Chinese Support

TOKYO (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev neared the climax of his Red China visit today as his Chinese hosts waxed hot and cold over his proposals for easing the cold war.

A few hours after the Soviet Premier's fourth meeting with 65-year-old Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung, the official Peoples Daily carried a lead editorial saying the Communist world "accorded warm response and support" to the communique the Soviet Premier jointly issued with President Eisenhower after his historic 13-day visit to the United States.

That document stressed the renunciation of force in settling international quarrels.

The United States has sought without success to have Peiping say it will abandon force as a means of acquiring the island of Formosa, now ruled by Mao's arch enemy, Chiang Kai-shek. Should the Chinese Communists do so, it would be a significant move in improving their relations with Washington.

Chinese premier Chou En-lai said soon after Khrushchev arrived in Peiping Wednesday he welcomed the communique.

But Friday's Peoples Daily gave equal space to the reprint of an article by Foreign Minister Chen Yi which called on "all peoples in the world to wage a long and unrelenting fight against American imperialism."

The article was written for the Soviet newspaper Izvestia in honor of the 10th anniversary celebration Oct. 1. It gave little or no encouragement to hopes Peiping was prepared to soften its attitude toward the United States.

The Chinese Reds are expected to give Khrushchev general support in his campaign to remove the major points of friction between Moscow and Washington.

They may even go so far as declare they, too, oppose the use of

Public Meeting Planned To Explain School Levy

Janet Yagello Named Queen At Sebring

Miss Janet Yagello, senior at Sebring McKinley High School, was crowned homecoming queen for 1959 at a ceremony Friday night preceding the Sebring-Louisville football game. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bohdin Yagello of Sebring.

Joseph McBier, captain of the team, received a souvenir football when he officiated at the crowning ceremonies. McBier, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John McBier of Beloit, was unable to play in the Louisville game because of injuries sustained several weeks ago during football practice.

Miss Yagello competed for the queen title with four other seniors chosen by student balloting from 14 candidates. A cheerleader and president of the Hi Teens, she also represented McKinley High School at Buckeye Girls State at Columbus and at Girls Nation in Washington, D.C., this past summer. She is a member of the Girls Athletic Association, the Latin Club and the Science Club. She also won local and county Prince of Peace contests several years.

The queen and her four attendants were escorted to the field by the football team. The attendants were Karen Ryerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ryerson of Sebring; Connie Weizenecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weizenecker of Beloit; Miss Peggy Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson of Sebring; and Joyce Mylar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mylar of Sebring.

FINED ON TWO COUNTS

LISBON — Weldon C. Rexrode, 21, of Akron was fined $50 and costs Friday in Mayor John Todd's court for driving an auto with fictitious plates and $10 and costs for no driver's license. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Charges of reckless operation and leaving the scene of an accident were filed by police against Christina M. Goodchild, 39, of 488 Hawley Ave., after her auto struck a parked car on E. 3rd St. near Hawley at 2:23 this morning. She left the scene of the mishap after damaging an auto owned by Louis Quinn of 1032 E. 3rd St., police said.

Albert L. Pierce, 43, of 777 Arch St. was arrested for failure to yield the right of way after he pulled out of a parking space and into a car driven by Nelson Mellinger Jr., 25, of RD 1, Salem, police said.

The accident occurred at E. State St. and S. Broadway Ave. at about 9 last night as Mellinger turned from State onto Broadway.

Strikes Keep Million Across U.S. Off Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here's a brief summary of strikes that have left more than a million workers idle across the nation.

STEEL: Estimated 500,000 steel workers and 200,000 workers in allied industries idle. Negotiations continue today in 81-day old strike.

DOCKWORKERS: 85,000 longshoremen idle in ports from Maine to Texas. Deadlock indicates strike will last at least two weeks.

MEATPACKING: More than 17,000 Swift & Co. workers out.

NONFERROUS METALS: More than 30,000 workers idle, mainly in Western copper, lead and zinc mines and processing-fabricating plants.

SHIP REPAIR: About 15,000 workers idle in yards from San Francisco north to Canada.

GLASS: 2,000 moldmakers idle in glass container industry.

AUTOMOBILE: More than 21,000 Chrysler workers idle in Ohio, Michigan and Indiana because of walkout at Twinsburg stamping plant.

Officials said smaller walkouts would add another couple hundred thousand to the nation's strike-idle total.

The New York Shipping Assn. says it will not meet with the International Longshoremen's Assn. until Oct. 15. The union says its workers will not return to the docks until it has a new contract.

Shippers say the strike is costing them 20 million dollars a day. Robert H. Moore, deputy director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, plans to meet Monday separately with both sides but he has indicated that the immediate possibility of his persuading them to meet jointly is unlikely.

The strike of about 85,000 longshoremen from Seaport, Maine, to Brownsville, Texas, has tied up cargo operations on about 200 freighters. The strike developed early Thursday in Southern ports and quickly spread northward.

The New York Shipping Assn., which represents 170 steamship lines and contracting stevedores in the port of New York, negotiates master contracts for all employers from Maine to Virginia. The association and union leaders had agreed to a 15-day extension of the contract that expired Sept. 30 and also had agreed that any new benefits would be retroactive to Oct. 1.

The association's contracts with the longshoremen traditionally set the pattern for agreements between regional employer groups in the South and ILA locals there. Southern longshoremen said they had received no retroactive promises from their employers and walked out. Their Northern colleagues followed to show solidarity.

Thus, retroactivity is an issue only at Southern ports.

Automation is the key stumbling block in the disagreement. Shippers want to be free to introduce any new piece of equipment in loading or unloading cargo. The union position is that it should be consulted by management each time a change is considered and that no new method should be introduced without its consent.

The last money offer of the shippers to Northern longshoremen was a 30-cent package conditional on the ILA's acceptance of management's views on automation. The union's last demand was a 50-cent package with changes in work rules that would discourage automation. Longshoremen here average $107.76 a week in pay.

'Trick Or Treat' Nights Designated

Oct. 30-31 are designated as "trick or treat" nights, Mayor Harold Smith and Police Chief Marlin Lutsch said today.

"The cooperation of parents is being asked to confine their children's house 'cavassing' to just two nights," the mayor said today. He added he has received two or three phone calls saying the "trick or treat" callers have already gone into action.

Parents, as the Halloween season approaches, are being warned, the Police Chief said, that they will be held responsible for all acts of vandalism carried out by their children. "Halloween is a time for fun, not to create misery for someone," he added.

J. Russell Moore, who is completing his third term as district deputy grand master of the 24th Masonic District, will be honored by members of Perry Lodge No. 185, F. & A. M., tonight at 7:30 in the Masonic Temple.

Speaker of the evening will be John W. Barkley of Cleveland, past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Ohio. Masons and their wives from the 29 lodges in the 24th Masonic District will attend the event.

Pleasant Heights Home Gutted by Fire

LISBON — Fire gutted the inside of the two-story, six-room frame home of Mrs. Hazel Garwood of Pleasant Heights at 9 this morning, acting Fire Chief Thirl Flanagan reports.

The home is occupied by Mrs. Garwood, her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reynolds, and their eight children, ranging in age from four months to 16 years.

The occupants lost almost all of their clothing and furniture, neighbors said.

Firemen, who were still on the scene at about noon, said the blaze may have been caused by defective wiring.

They were forced to send for the Civil Defense tanker when more water was needed to bring the fire under control.

No estimate of the loss was made, although it is expected to be considerable.

It is not known whether the loss is covered by insurance.

Suspect In Attempted House Entry Sought

A dark-haired man wearing a plaid shirt and a brown hat is being sought by police today as a suspect in an attempted breaking and entering case.

Mrs. Gene Davis of 157 W. 5th St. told police she heard a noise at the back door of her residence about 2:30 a.m. today and then heard glass breaking. She told police she grabbed the telephone and the intruder became alarmed and ran away.

Police said the back door screen had been cut and the heavy plate glass window broken. The suspect is about six feet tall and weighs about 190 pounds.

Discussion on New Lisbon School Planned

LISBON — A discussion on the need for a new school building here will be held when the Board of Education meets Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., School Supt. Loren Early reported today.

A six-room annex recently was added to Lincoln School, but it did not completely alleviate the crowded conditions.

'Physically Handicapped Week' Observance Scheduled

The 14th annual observance of the "Employment of Physically Handicapped Week" has been designated for Monday through Saturday, according to chairman Byron J. Griffith, supervisor of the local office of the Ohio State Employment Service.

The purpose of the annual week is to enlist public support for an interest in the employment of otherwise qualified but physically handicapped persons, he said.

Each year it is the job of the Ohio State Employment Service to outline plans for the observance. At a meeting of the EPH week committee Thursday night, plans were made to place posters in local stores, use blotters and calendars as mail stuffers, and secure films to be shown at group meetings.

Another phase is the essay contest which is open to 11th and 12th grade students. The theme for this year is "Jobs for the Handicapped... Passports to Dignity" with the deadline set for Dec. 19.

District winners will be eligible to compete in state and national contests, with cash and scholarship as prizes.

Mr. Griffith pointed out that securing employment for handicapped workers is a 52-week job of the Ohio Employment Service; and that this one special week is to remind the general public that a handicapped person needs a livelihood too.

Physically impaired persons, when prepared for and properly placed in jobs, are as good or better workers than unimpaired persons, he said. Statistics show there are as many as 30,000,000 persons with physical impairments of one sort or another.

Others serving on the EPH Week committee are: Chester Klidler, essay chairman; Eleanor Copper-Smith, publicity; Dr. Ralph Vance, medical advisor; the Rev. T. G. S. Whitney, religious advisor; Charles Hinchliffe, United Steel Workers of America; Miss Helen Prudner, Business and Professional Women's Club; Leslie Brantingham, commander of the American Legion.

G. Marshall Sutherin, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Jack Rance of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; Howard Coy, president of United Commercial Travelers; Don Mathews, president of the Lions Club; and Mrs. Esther Messersmith, president of Quota Club.

3 Leetonia Men Held For Statutory Rape

LISBON — Three Leetonia men were bound over to the Grand Jury Friday for statutory rape of a 15-year-old Leetonia girl.

Carl Cope, 18, of 398 Stoy St.; Kenneth G. Mathey, 20, of 388 Waddell St. and Robert Bilsky, 20, of 333 Waddell St., are being held in the county jail after they admitted having illicit relations with the 15-year-old girl, although knowing she was under 16 years old.

Judge Louis Tobin set bonds for each at $1,500. The girl will be taken to the Girls Industrial School at Marysville Tuesday by juvenile authorities.

Late Rain Kept September From Being the Driest

Had it not been for a 1.90-inch rainfall Sept. 30, last month would have been a record dry month with only .28 inch, District Weather Observer Edwin Copeland of Millport reports.

The driest September in the history of the county weather station was in 1903 when only .40 inches of precipitation was recorded, Copeland pointed out. The wettest was September of 1926 with 9.50 inches.

There was a period last month, Sept. 10 to 30, with no rain at all, Copeland charts show. When the month ended, though, rainfall measurement had totaled 2.18. It was 4.25 inches a year ago.

The rains, he said, came in time to insure good germination of seed planted in the ground and to help farmers who had not yet plowed for fall seeding.

The first killing frost occurred Sept. 17, about two weeks ahead of the normal date.

The high temperature last month was 94 degrees recorded on Sept. 8. The low was 25 degrees on the 17th.

The average temperature for last month was 64.7 degrees, which was warmer than the 61.4 degrees of a year ago and above the normal of 63 degrees.

But if they do so, they almost certainly would exclude Formosa from such a commitment for they have repeatedly described the island as an internal matter.

This does not mean the two Communist leaders left Formosa out of their discussions. Mao could well have suggested some new avenue of approach for Khrushchew to raise in his meeting with Eisenhower in Moscow next spring.

In official statements so far, Peiping has reiterated its determination to "liberate" Formosa but has avoided saying it would use its military might to do so. Defense Minister Lin Piao said it would be taken, "one way or another."

3 Juveniles Deprived Of Driving Permits

LISBON — Traffic court hearings at the Courthouse this week resulted in the suspension of the driving permits of three juvenile motorists. They are:

Peace Lecture for Comrade Mao

Just as the world must wait a while to know the real outcome of Nikita Khrushchev's talks with President Eisenhower, so it will have to wait a while to see if Mr. K's public lecture on peace has any effect on Red China's Mao Tse-tung.

The West has suspected for a long time that Peiping does not fit as snugly in the Kremlin pocket as the European satellite puppets do. There have been suspicions that Red China sometimes is almost as big a thorn in the side of Soviet Russia as it is in the side of the free world.

THERE IS plenty of evidence that Mao and his men can be at least as ruthless and murderous as some of the Kremlin bosses have been. There is some evidence that Mao is given more to acting on hothead whimsy than his erstwhile mentors. And there is further evidence that the Soviet realizes the possibility that Peiping might even turn its wrath on Moscow.

Consequently, there have been times when Peiping appeared to be doing more to rock Moscow's boat than to help paddle it. This may be one of those times.

Many western experts believe that Mr. K has decided his niche in Soviet history must be carved with domestic advances in living standards and that he therefore is sincere in his efforts to bring an atmosphere of peace to a globe long shivering in the grips of a Cold War.

If that is the case, Peiping either hasn't gotten the word or isn't paying it any mind. The slaughter of Tibetans, the infiltration of Laos, the violation of India's borders all fit into the former Communist strategy of keeping things stirred up here and there. A recent speech by the Peiping chief of state even hinted that new provocations over Formosa may be brewing.

So Mr. K, fresh from his peace-purveying trip to America, has gone to Peiping, ostensibly to help celebrate the Mao regime's 10th anniversary as ruler of China. And the first thing he talked about was the necessity for trying to be a little nicer to one's neighbors.

THIS TENDS to confirm the suspicions that the Russian leader is genuinely worried about his recalcitrant kid brother. He wants to make sure junior has heard the word and try to persuade him to swing into line.

Working against big brother will be the fact that Mao has some knotty domestic problems of his own, which is probably one of the reasons for his current interest in international irritation. That is an old Communist course.

This, in turn, recalls the evidence that Mao occasionally balks at the idea that his own wishes are secondary to the Kremlin's.

The situation might well provide the rest of the world with its best opportunity yet for determining just how well the two biggest boys in the Communist family are getting along with each other.

Three Cheers For a New Auto Season

With one of the most exciting baseball seasons in years drawing to a close and what promises to be an exciting football season getting under way, Americans are tingling with anticipation over another of their favorite seasonal pastimes: looking over the new crop of automobiles.

As in the other sports, the old familiar faces of the auto industry are apt to find themselves sidelined by the appearance of the newcomers — the long-heralded "compacts."

Like the rookies of baseball and football, the compacts are at the moment more promise than proof. They haven't had a chance to show what they can do in the big-time competition. No one knows yet what they will do to or for the game.

But their "managers" are full of pre-season confidence. This is their bid to bolster the sagging public interest of the past few years and thereby to hike the receipts.

The cheerleading publicity men have offered tantalizing previews of what the people in the stands can expect: plainer styling, lower prices, easier parking, rear-end engines less fuel consumption.

They have made no bones about the fact that they want to block the offensive gains of the midjet upstarts from the Old World and they think they have the line to tackle the problem successfully. They have pinned their hopes on confidence that Americans will prefer what Americans create. And they are indulging in that Old American custom—compromise — to win the home folks' cheers.

The new compacts will be neither as big as traditional American cars nor as small as the foreign competitors. Their performances and their price also aim for the happy medium. On that philosophy, the auto industry is aiming for the happy extreme—near-record production and sales.

All in all, it promises to be an exciting season for auto fans everywhere.

Tough Job for Democratic Hopefuls

Now that the Democrats have come up with a 1,511-delegate list for the national convention in Los Angeles, the work is cut out for each of those who aspire to be the party's standard bearer in the 1960 presidential sweepstakes. The winner must capture 756 votes to take the prize.

The new total compares with 1,372 four years ago when 686 delegate votes were required to nominate.

To Democratic front-runners John Kennedy, Stuart Symington and Hubert Humphrey, who according to the latest public opinion polls aren't catching on with the voters, the new total must loom as a far-distant goal. Each could go to the convention with 500 pledged delegates and not make the grade. Digging up another 256 supporters could be tough.

Information seeping out of the Democratic National Headquarters is to the effect that the party's leaders are more worried than they admit publicly about their presidential prospects next year.

To the old political pros, the name of Adlai Stevenson is reported to be looking better all the time. The latest Gallup Poll, showing Nixon ahead of Kennedy for the first time, may give new push to the Stevenson boomlet.

Once Over

The Brooklyn Fan Who Can't Forget showed up as a psychopathic case in the 1959 World Series. He wouldn't mention "Dodgers" by name, calling them "X" in mixed company and clinging to Judas Iscariots, turncoats, ungrateful gypsies, Rover Boys and ungrateful heels in milder references.

He followed the games only on the radio as he couldn't bear the sight of the team on TV, and he tuned out when the "Bums" were at bat. "I can't stand the sight of the foul fugitives from Brooklyn justice," he said. "When I think of the years, man and boy, when I cheered, supported and gave blood for the punks, it drives me nuts. You know how George Washington felt when his old pal Benedict Arnold switched from West Point to London."

"But for years the Bums . . ." we began. "Don't call 'em by such a decent name," he begged. "For generations it was a term of affection and loyalty from Coney Island to the Brooklyn Bridge. But to apply it to that team today ain't fair to tramps, vagabond lovers or unreliable traveling-circus men."

"Don't you carry resentment too far?" we asked.

"Not far enough," he snapped. "If I really let myself go I'd brush off the series even on the airwaves and spend the time in empty ghettos field drinking myself stiff, enjoying happy memories and putting the Flatbush, Greenpoint and Bensonhurst Curse on the entire outfit."

"Won't you admit there was gallantry in the climb from seventh place to a world series?" we asked.

"Them crumbs, refugees, ingrates, Pacific Coast explorers and Cook tourists are last in the hearts of Flatbush, last in the affections of eastern ball fans and first in the economic outlook of capitalists, turnstile checker and big real estate operators," he sneered, a fierce look in his watery eyes.

"You men even the names of Carl Purillo, Gil Hodges, Duke Snider and Junior Gilliam don't move you?" we asked.

"I NEVER HEARD OF 'EM," he yelled. "How about O'Malley?"

The Brooklyn Fan Who Can't Forget leaped through the window screaming.

Sumpin's Gotta Give!

Perspective on Red Trade

By JAY G. HAYDEN

For a U.S.-Russian negotiation comparable to the one just concluded by President Eisenhower and Nikita Khrushchev it is necessary to turn back to 1933, when President Roosevelt and Maxim Litvinov ended the 16-year break in diplomatic relations between their two countries.

The contrast between the initial high hopes aroused by that earlier meeting and its complete failure to achieve any of the purposes stipulated, except for an exchange of ambassadors, warns against expecting too much from the present exchange.

On the overoptimistic side in 1933, for example, both Litvinov for Russia and William C. Bullitt, newly named American ambassador to Russia, prophesied that revived U.S.-Russian trade would set the whole world on the road to economic recovery.

The prophecy was made in November, 1933, with the greatest economic depression in history still going full blast.

IN ACTUALITY, the new U.S. Export-Import Bank, set up with the specific design to loan money to Russia, never even got off the ground because Russia refused to pay the interest, much less anything to reduce the principal, on debts which Litvinov had promised the Soviet would settle.

That obduracy was in spite of the fact that Roosevelt and Litvinov had whittled the Russian obligation, all contracted under the Czars, to a range of 75 million to 150 million dollars.

Litvinov, as related by the then Secretary of State Cordell Hull in his reminiscences, had told Roosevelt privately he thought his government might pay up to 100 million dollars.

But, Hull said: "The following month the situation became further complicated by the enactment of the Johnson Act, which prohibited loans to foreign governments in default of indebtedness to the United States."

When Hull requested an opinion by the attorney general as to whether this act barred any loans to Russia so long as the default on the czarist debt continued, the reply was "yes."

The Johnson Act, in fact, was not aimed at Russia. It arose from the progressive stoppage of interest payments on virtually all of the 11 billion dollars the U.S. oaned to its allies in World War I—chiefly Britain, France and Italy.

This statute, mentioned in official briefings on the Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting at Camp David as a main obstacle today to restoring trade with Russia, was introduced by Sen. Hiram Johnson (R-Cal) and passed by the Senate, Jan. 11, 1933, without a roll call.

THE DEMOCRATIC floor leader, Sen. Joseph T. Robinson (D-Ark) held off certifying this enactment until he won elimination of some technical provisions offensive to U.S. trade officials. But one price paid for these corrections was an off-the-record pledge by the Roosevelt administration that no credit transaction with Russia would be undertaken pending settlement of all debts owed to the United States, public and private.

Enactment of the Johnson bill in that form, including approval of it by President Roosevelt, Hull said, created an "unbreakable deadlock. . . . The Soviet was never to make a debt payment and the Export-Import Bank was never to function with regard to Russia. . . ."

The Soviet Union was actually in a worse position than other countries. Private corporations and banks of other nations in default could obtain credits in the United States, but all corporations and banks in Russia were government owned."

SINCE THAT enactment, U.S. lend-lease to Russia in World War I has entered the picture. At last report the over-all U.S. claim had been whittled down to 800 million dollars, with Russia offering 300 million.

From the standpoint of trade, which Hull believed was the most hopeful solvent of international difficulties everywhere, a settlement of this debt issue would seem to be the easiest of all means toward U.S.-Russian comity.

The most encouraging features of the U.S.-Russian outlook, of course, are first, the unmistakable friendliness exhibited by both Eisenhower and Khrushchev and second, the popular enthusiasm among American and Russian people alike, at the news of a seemingly successful ending of the meeting.

Disarmament Proposal

By PETER EDSON

Reds Would Never Accept U.S. Offers

Most alarming aspect of Nikita Khrushchev's grandiose plan for "general and complete disarmament" is not that it is just propaganda. The world can live with that.

Of far greater import is the fact that Russia could have had most of Khrushchev's specific disarmament proposals at any time since the end of World War II. The record shows the Russians have rejected every disarmament proposal since the Baruch Plan of 1946.

The only reason arms limitations are not in effect now is that Communist diplomats have never been willing to sit down and negotiate them seriously.

Since the beginning of 1958, the Russians have boycotted the United Nations Disarmament Commission.

To break this deadlock, President Eisenhower in April 1958 suggested technical talks in conferences of experts on the feasibility of a control system to verify the suspension of the tests themselves and establishment of safeguards against surprise attack.

Those conferences, now in recess, went on intermittently in Geneva for a year. Agreement was reached on the technical feasibility of detecting tests carried out in violation of an agreement. But from the outset of these talks, Soviet spokesmen injected political considerations into the deliberations. That made the achievement of disarmament impossible.

APPARENTLY for propaganda purposes—for it was in contradiction to the negative attitude displayed at Geneva—Russian delegates, presented to the United Nations the 1958 version of their standard disarmament plan. It called for:

Reduction by 10 to 15 per cent of armed forces and military budgets, a ban on nuclear weapons tests, international control to prevent surprise attack, reduction of foreign troops and bases in Europe, enlargement of the U.N. Disarmament Commission to include all member nations.

This last item was adopted by the U.N. But the commission has never functioned except as a paper organization. For the Soviet consistently hamstringing progress at Geneva.

A revealing facet on the other items in the 1958 Soviet proposal is that they are all repeated in Khrushchev's latest proposal to the U.N. So they are not new.

The significant fact is that the Soviet could have had all these proposals in effect now—plus the neutral, disarmed inspection zones Khrushchev also calls for.

THEY COULD HAVE had that proposal too—if Russian negotiators had accepted the western powers plan offered at the London Disarmament Conference in 1957. That proposal included these principal points:

1. End nuclear weapons testing and manufacture in 1959.

2. Simultaneous reduction of armed forces—first to 2.5 million men for the U.S. and U.S.S.R.—then 1.7 million.

3. Non-nuclear weapons—planes, tanks, guns ships, everything else—to be reduced by 10 to 15 per cent.

4. A 14-nation board of control, operating under the U.N. Security Council—to administer this program.

FOR A TIME, during the Long London disarmament talks a 1956-7, it appeared the Russians might accept this western package as presented by Gov. Harold E. Stassen.

But in July 1957, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin rejected the plan in a typical reversal of form.

What this reveals is that the Russians never have been sincere in talking disarmament.

But if you want to grasp at straws, it could be interpreted that maybe at last the Russians are ready to agree to something that makes sense.

That is the assumption on which the western powers have to proceed if there is to be continued hope for disarmament. The record shows it is a pretty frustrating and ruthless court. But here they go for another round.

Humphrey's Hurdles

By RAYMOND MOLEY

The ebullient Mr. Khrushchev has verbally riddled many targets and persons in his long political career. However, one man is said to have outtalked Mr. K on one occasion.

That man is Hubert Humphrey, senator from Minnesota, one of several Democratic hopefuls for the 1960 nomination.

Last year, after an eight-hour talkathon with the Soviet Premier, Humphrey emerged with undaunted mien.

"Khrushchev probably made a tactical error," a reporter who knew Humphrey of old observed. "He probably began by asking Hubert a question. Eight hours later he had his answer, complete with historical background, statistics and some good reasons why he should always support the Democratic party."

It has been Humphrey's fast, glib and wide-ranging tongue which has taken him from obscurity in his father's Huron, S.D., drugstore to political science teaching at Macalester College in St. Paul, to the office of mayor of Minneapolis, to the office of mayor of Minneapolis (where he set a record of sorts by delivering 2,000 orations in two years) and on to the United States Senate.

THE SENATOR'S endowment may prove his greatest obstacle in his long-winded bid for the 1960 nomination.

Even his fondest admirers admit that Humphrey talks too much, soars into unfamiliar realms and is careless with facts.

In his favor, Humphrey possesses unquestioned endurance and, it must be emphasized, a grasp of practical politics.

He sees to it that the little things that figure big in political practice are done.

Even more than Gov. Mennen Williams, who neglects his job to go around "meeting people" in Michigan, Humphrey strives to make himself known and heard.

He is forever returning to the source of his strength — his constituents and political workers — telling them that he, of all their elected representatives, local, state or national, can best serve their interests, however trifling.

Acne, Pimples Worry Teen-Agers

Acne or adolescent pimples is definitely a physical disorder but it carries with it profound psychological effects. If acne were not a blot on the appearance at a time when personal sensitivity is at its peak it could perhaps be considered only a minor affliction. It appears, however, at the same time that most youngsters begin to be interested in the opposite sex and in their personal appearance so that it not infrequently results in unfortunate effects on the personality.

What causes acne is uncertain. Infection plays a part, but so does diet, and it has been noted frequently that the condition is likely to become worse when the adolescent victim of acne takes too many sweets, or miscellaneous foods or drinks, outside of regular meals.

Treatment of the physical condition is of great importance. This should be taken under the direction of a skilled and sympathetic physician.

Patients are usually advised to refrain from certain common foods, especially chocolate, nuts, seafoods, iodized salt and sharp cheeses. Also, it is generally wise to avoid sweets and fats to excess.

It may be particularly encouraging to some who have very bad acne and scarring that the new methods, particularly the use of a wire brush as a planing method, can often be used if necessary to reduce the scars if they should occur. Such treatments are not often needed but do offer hope of future improvement in the skin to one who has been unfortunate enough to develop scarring.

The psychological aspects of acne cannot be neglected. It is certainly a mistake for family or friends to comment every morning on the state of a youngster's skin since this can only increase the self-consciousness.

However, a youngster with this condition should take a firm grip on himself, get the best treatment and advice possible, and make a real effort to lead a normal life without paying too much attention to the disfigurement of the pimples which is ordinarily only temporary.

IT'S A SMALL WORLD

Ever run into a friend in Tokyo, or meet one of your neighbors in Amsterdam? Maybe not—but such things are happening every day!

It makes you stop and think—the way this world is shrinking. It makes you wish that the men and women who live on opposite sides of the globe had more things in common.

There can be no more unifying force in the world than a common belief in God. And toward that ideal we are rapidly progressing. Christians the world over are feeling and expressing their unity of faith and purpose.

Sunday is World-Wide Communion Sunday. On that day, within the space of a few short hours, Christians in every land will reverently participate in the Lord's Supper which has been a mark of Christian faith for almost two thousand years.

Worship with the World in the Church of your choice!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Quakers End Timken Series With Rousing 32-0 Victory

Foe's Vaunted Passing Attack Nets Six Yards; Schmauch Crosses Goal Three Times

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

The ranks of those doubting Salem High School has a football powerhouse this year were noticeably thinned Friday night at Reilly Stadium.

Coach Earle Bruce's Quakers rolled to their eighth consecutive victory and their third of the season by completely outclassing Canton Timken 32-0.

got the Trojans just six yards and the visitors were never able to move the ball inside Salem's 40-yard line. The Salem goal remains uncrossed after three games.

Pile-driving fullback Pete Schmauch scored three touchdowns on runs of one, one and 33-yards. He is tied with halfback Fred Phillis for the team lead in touchdowns. Each has seven. Phillis had to settle for a pair of extra points last night to run his leading point total to 46.

END DON DAVIDSON turned in the best game of his career, hauling in three of quarterback Vince Horning's aeriels. Two of them went for touchdowns.

Davidson was even better on defense. He led the team in tackles, five and harassed Timken quarterback Dave Perry all night with his hard rushes.

Perry, who passed for four touchdowns in two previous games, could not crack the Quaker defense. He completed one toss in 10 tries and that was good for just six yards on a button hook.

Salem was expected to show the stronger running attack, but the Quakers' superiority in the air was somewhat of a surprise. Horning mixed his plays well and hit on five of 16 attempts. His average would have been even better had he not overthrown his elusive end, Charlie Horn, on numerous occasions.

Horn broke away from his defenders consistently but Horning's passes were leading him a little too much.

TIMKEN, WHICH FAILED to score against Salem for the third consecutive year, had difficulty getting its hands on the ball.

Salem's domination of the game is indicated by the fact they had the ball for 72 running and passing plays, compared to Timken's total of 30. Salem's backs carried the ball 56 times for 373 yards. Canton ran the ball only 20 times for 102 yards.

Including passes, Salem got off 72 plays compared to Timken's 30. In addition, Canton lost the ball twice on fumbles. The Quakers also fumbled twice but gave up the ball only one of those times.

Salem's forgotten halfback, Frank Copacia, sparked last night, picking up 110 yards in 12 carries. He also hauled in a pair of Horning's passes, good for 22 and 21 yards.

The 150-pound senior has been playing second fiddle to left halfback Phillis but last night he out-gained his running mate by 12 yards. Phillis' 98 yards on the ground was the first time this year that he dropped under the 100 mark.

SALEM WON the toss of the coin for the third consecutive time and chose to receive. They marched 81 yards in 13 plays for the first touchdown without giving up the football.

A 21-yard pass from Horning to Copacia set up the touchdown on the four yard line. Copacia carried to the one on the next play and Schmauch moved in behind the blocking of Ned Chappell and Fred Harshman to put Salem in front 6-0.

For the extra points, Horning faked to Ronnie Janovec and handed off to Phillis who moved over the left side of his line for the score.

Salem's sustained drive ate up time. Only 4:10 remained in the opening quarter when Timken got its first chance to move the ball. They ran two plays, passed one and then punted. That was the extent of Canton's offensive activity in the first period.

Salem took the punt on their own 23-yard line and drove to the Timken three where they lost the ball on downs. However, on Timken's first play, quarterback Perry fumbled the ball and Don Davidson recovered for Salem.

SCHMAUCH SCORED standing up through Joe Julian's hole on the right side of the line. Janovec was thrown short of paydirt on his attempted run for the extra points.

The half ended with Salem leading 14-0.

It was in the third period that Copacia really opened up. He carried the ball four times for 75-yards on runs of 15, 22, 6 and 32 yards. He also added an intercepted pass to his list of accomplishments in the period.

Davidson registered the third touchdown on a 25-yard pass from Horning. The lanky end took a perfect toss in the corner and stepped over the goal for the score. A run for the extra points again failed.

Salem scored twice in the final period. The first TD of the fourth quarter came on the finest run of the night. Schmauch took a hand-off from Horning and moved through a big hole once again opened by Chappell.

Timken quickly closed the gap and seemingly stopped the hard running fullback, but Schmauch shook off three would be tacklers and went 33 yards for the score.

SOPHOMORE BOB Oswald's kick for the extra point was wide. Later in the period Phillis pounced on a fumble by halfback Roger Peterson on Canton's 46 yard line and Salem was off again.

With only 34 seconds remaining in the game, Horning hit Davidson with a six yard pass to give the Quakers their fifth touchdown and 32nd point of the night. The conversion attempt failed when the snap from center came all the way back to Oswald who had hoped to place kick his first high school extra point.

Athletic Director Fred Cope was informed last night before the game that Salem's 13-year football rivalry with Canton Timken came to an end last night. The Trojans are joining a league next year and have substituted Akron Hoban for Salem on next year's schedule. Salem won the hard fought series eight games to five.

SALEM EXPERIMENTED with a "lonely end" in their first two plays last night. Davidson stationed himself 15 yards outside the tackle and did not come back into the huddle. The lonely end blocked on one play and ran a pass pattern on the other before Coach Bruce dropped the idea and sent Davidson back into the huddle.

Davidson may have earned himself a starting position with his performance last night. He was the man who was shaking Copacia loose in the third period on his long runs.

Chappell turned in his usual out-opening up big holes in the left side of the line, he batted down two Canton passes.

Timken never threatened in the game. In the first period they moved the ball only as far as their own 29 yard line. In the second period they got to the Salem 42. In the third quarter they moved as far as the Salem 45 before punting.

In the last quarter Timken got the ball out to their own 46 before losing it on a fumble.

Officiating last night were Paul Tobin of Akron, William Carr of Akron, John Holzbach of Youngstown and Joe Zerilla of Ambridge.

Leetonia Scores Bulldogs 22-15

E. Palestine Wins In Final Moments

An 80-yard kick return in the final minute of play enabled the East Palestine Bulldogs to notch their 15th consecutive victory Friday night as they came from behind to defeat a stubborn Leetonia team 22-15 at Leetonia.

East Palestine was leading 14-8 going into the final two minutes of play when 130-pound halfback David Macry slipped through the Bulldog defenses on a seven-yard touchdown jaunt. Quarterback Terry Tilley kicked the extra point to move the Bears ahead 15-14 with about a minute remaining in the game.

THEN BULLDOG HALFBACK

George Morris electrified the crowd as he took the punt on his own 20-yard stripe and sailed 80 yards for the winning points. The 175-pound halfback had previously scored eight points with a two-yard dive and a pair of extra points.

The Bulldogs added their final points of the night when quarterback Willis Woods passed to Jim Wisser, halfback, for the points after touchdown.

East Palestine chalked up its second Tri-County League victory by starting early in the game. Morris' six-pointer came in the opening period.

Both the Bears and the Bulldogs struck paydirt in the second period of play.

East Palestine's TD came when Wisser carried over from the four-yard line.

Morris ran for the PAT.

A 65-YARD RUN BY halfback Dave Macry, 130-pound senior, boosted the home team back into the contest. Quarterback Terry Tilley passed to Halfback Dave Pirigyi for the extra points.

After the start of the second quarter both teams battled back and forth across the mid-stripe until first Leetonia scored and then East Palestine forged ahead just before the final gun.

The Bulldogs were a heavy favorite to win the game.

The Bulldogs, a powerhouse again this year in the Tri-County League, gained a total of 176 yards while the Bears grounded out 155 yards. East Palestine, however, had a decided edge in first downs as it tallied 12 rushing and one passing. Leetonia had only five, one through the air and four on the ground.

THE BULLDOGS ALSO HAD the edge in the passing records, completing three of five attempts. The Bears connected on two of seven tries.

Penalties were all against East Palestine who was marched back 20 yards by the referees. Both teams fumbled twice and recovered their own miscues once.

Next week East Palestine will tangle with a tough Lisbon squad at Lisbon.

Leetonia will be host to a Minerva eleven which just won its first game for its new coach and who dropped an eight-point decision to Lisbon the week before.

McDonald Tramples Invading Jackson-Milton Squad 62-26

Fullback Bob Barrett and right halfback Jim Santagana each scored two touchdowns as McDonald trampled an invading Jackson-Milton squad 62-26 Friday night.

The eventual winners scored a TD in each of the first and last periods and three apiece in the other two quarters.

Jackson-Milton rallied against second stringers to tally all its points in the final stanza.

BARRETT GOT HIS first touchdown in the initial frame on a 5-yard plunge, and fullback Frank Terlecki ran the extra points.

Barrett went across the goal line again in the second period on a 2-yard run. Left halfback Larry Carikido ran the extra points.

The other two touchdowns in that frame were tallied by end John Reese on a 50-yard run and Santagana after he intercepted a pass and trotted 40 yards to pay dirt. The four extra points were tallied by Santagana.

Santagana opened the McDonald scoring in the third quarter when he crossed the goal line after a 30-yard run. Quarterback Jim Betts ran the extra points.

The other two TD's in that frame were tallied by Betts on a 55-yard run and quarterback J. Dinard after snaring a 25-yard pass from Terlecki. Barrett and Batcho ran the extra points.

Fullback Ed Gorgei accounted for two of the invaders' touchdowns. He scored on a 65-yard run and a 3-yard plunge. He also added two extra points.

The other Jackson-Milton TD's were tallied by left halfback Bill Byer on an 8-yard run and fullback Tim Dent who sped 40 yards.

The victory gives McDonald a 2-1 season record, and 2-0 in Inter-County League play.

Jackson-Milton has lost all three of its season games.

McDonald's next game will be Friday at home against Goshen Union.

Jackson-Milton will be host at a homecoming game Saturday against North Lima.

Neale Rips Pair of 4-Baggers

3 Dodger Homers Top Chisox 4-3 To Even Series at 1-1

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, backed by the screen that looms in left at the Coliseum, now are favored to whip Chicago's White Sox in their run for the richest payoff yet as the World Series comes to the West Coast for the first time in history.

After coming from behind Friday for a 4-3 victory and a split of the first two games, played at Chicago's Comiskey Park, the Dodgers are tagged at 11-10 to win the best-of-seven series.

And they're favored at 6-5 Sunday in the first of three games at the Coliseum — already a sellout at 92,000-plus.

That should push the winners' share of the loot a few thousand past the record $11,147,900 collected by the New York Giants in their 1954 sweep of Cleveland. There's $331,070 in the players' pool already after a two-game attendance total of 95,381 at Chicago.

With time off for traveling, both clubs worked out today at the Coliseum, a make-shift ball yard once more after a quick conversion following Friday night's college football game between Ohio State and Southern California.

Most of the White Sox, including Manager Al Lopez, will be getting their first look at the Coliseum and the steel screen that rises 40 feet and runs from the left field foul line to left-center. It's only 251 feet to the beleaguered barrier down the line.

The Coliseum gives you little in left, lots in center and right.

"We'll have an advantage over them at home," said Dodger Manager Walt Alston. "You always have it over a club seeing our place for the first time."

Alston picked right-hander Don Drysdale (17-13) to start Sunday's third game against the White Sox and right-hander Dick Donovan (9-10). Neither manager would go further in outlining pitching plans for the three games here.

Lopez, whose go-go Sox were beaten by three Dodger home runs, and by Charlie Neal, and their own heavy-hoofed running Friday, said he might make some line-up changes, after "I get a good look at this place and think it over."

With left field so short, he might shelve his usual platooning practice and go with right-handed hitters against Drysdale. That would leave rookie Jim McNamany in right field and Bubba Phillips at third base in place of Jim Rivera and Billy Goodman.

McNamany, playing his first Series game, was 0-for-3 and Phillips was 1-for-3, smacking a double, Friday against Dodger southpaw Johnny Podres, who gained his third Series victory in four tries.

Ted Kluszewski, the Sox' left-handed power guy, would stay at first base, of course. He's provided their punch so far, driving in six runs in the two games.

Kluszewski also got the Sox started on what looked like a winning rally in the eighth inning Friday until slowpoke Sherm Lollar was nailed trying to score from first on Al Smith's double.

Lollar, running on a 3-2 pitch that Smith sent to left center, stopped after rounding second.

Leading 2-0 at the start of the quarter, the Lions added another touchdown when Dourm went over from three yards out. Wilson was dropped short of the goal line when he attempted to convert.

TRAILING 28-0, THE Clippers managed to turn a blocked punt and a pair of penalties against Minerva into eight points. The Lions attempted to kick from their own 18 but Columbian charged through the line and stopped the kick. After the two penalties

THEIR HOMERS DID IT FOR DODGERS — In dressing room at Comiskey Park in Chicago Friday are two Los Angeles Dodger players who provided all the runs necessary to beat Chicago White Sox 4-3 to even the Series. At left is Charlie Neal who hit two home runs, one in the fifth inning and another in the seventh with a man aboard. At right is Chuck Essegian who came through with a tremendous 400-foot plus homer as a pinch hitter in the seventh inning.

then couldn't get in gear again. "I didn't know he had stopped. I was watching the ball."

"When he rounded third I knew he wouldn't make it. But it was too late to call him back."

Lopez shrugged it off as best he could. "We were as bad as the Sox to do again. I wouldn't," said Dodgers' first baseman Tony Cuccinello, who won 11-0 by the Sox.

Lions' Aerial Blitz Effective

Columbiana Loses 34-14 at Minerva

The Minerva Lions, who displayed their potential in dropping a 14-6 game to Lisbon last week, took to the air lanes Friday night to shoot down the Columbiana Clippers in a 34-14 fray at Minerva.

It was the first win for the Lions under their new coach, Glenn Sutherland, and gave the Minerva footballers a 1-1 record in the Tri-County League competition. The loss marked the second defeat for the Clippers in league play this year.

The outcome of the game was never in doubt.

Early in the first quarter Minerva forecast the coming events as quarterback Jim Davison completed a 49-yard pass play with end Walt Loudon trotting across the goal line. Halfback Ray Heller's attempt for the extra points failed.

THE LIONS REALLY opened up in the second period as they racked up 16 points on two touchdowns and four extra points. A 44-yard pass play had an important part in those scoring series.

The first touchdown came on a four-yard plunge by high-scoring halfback Paul Dourm. Heller ran for the PAT. Later that period Davison uncorked a pass to end Chuck Wilson for 44 yards. Wilson was pushed out of bounds on the one-yard line. Heller plowed through the Clipper line for the TD and Wilson added the PAT with a run.

Leading 22-0 at the start of the quarter, the Lions added another touchdown when Dourm went over from three yards out. Wilson was dropped short of the goal line when he attempted to convert.

TRAILING 28-0, THE Clippers managed to turn a blocked punt and a pair of penalties against Minerva into eight points. The Lions attempted to kick from their own 18 but Columbian charged through the line and stopped the kick. After the two penalties

Southern Cal Tops OSU 17-0

Buckeyes Reach Five Just Once

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern California's Trojans supplied the punch on the football field and Ohio State's fiery coach, Woody Hayes, reportedly furnished one in a stormy post-game episode.

The unbeaten Trojans dealt a smashing 17-0 blow to the Buckeyes from the Big Ten Friday night, and made a bid for a place in the top 10 teams of the nation.

Eyewitnesses said Hayes took a swing at one sports writer, missed but landed a blow on the back of the brother of another as a group waited outside the Buckeye dressing room for the post game interview.

Cooled down 30 minutes later, Hayes denied he swung at anyone. He said he may have shoved someone.

"We didn't say a word," said Dick Shafer, whose brother Bob is sports editor of the Pasadena Independent.

"All of a sudden Hayes barged out of the dressing room like a mad bull."

"The next thing I knew he hit me in the back. It's still sore."

Al Bine of the Los Angeles Examiner gave much the same account. He says Hayes swung at him but missed. "I got out of the place quick," Bine announced.

Later Hayes came out of the dressing quarters and chatted amiably enough and extended kind words for the Trojan football team.

The scene in the quarters under the coliseum apparently was more dramatic than most of the football game.

For the most part, the rivals huffed and puffed up and down the turf.

It was left for a Southern California sophomore quarterback, Ben Charles, to supply the excitement.

The 190-pounder from Lancaster, Pa., threw one touchdown pass, set up another via the air and scored himself and set the stage for a field goal.

Charles' main target was end Luther Hayes. He hit him with a 38-yard scoring throw and one for 33 yards which put USC in position for Charles to carry the ball the final four yards.

A Charles throw to Glenn Wilder for 21 led to a 27-yard field goal by Don Zachik, which opened the scoring for the 49-52 on hand.

Fullback Bob White was not at his best, according to Hayes, but he was the main gun in rushing the ball for 56 of the net 84 yards the Buckeyes gained against a big Trojan line.

DAVISON COMPLETED A 14-yard pass play to Wilson for the score. But the pass for the conversion was incomplete. Late in the final quarter, Fritch completed a 40-yard pass play to Perkins for the final scoring of the game. The try for extra points failed.

Lions' quarterback Fritch hit 50 per cent of his intended receivers during the aerial blitz, completing five of 10 attempts for 145 yards. Columbiana, on the other hand, only hit on three out of 13 passes for 46 yards.

The Lions led in first downs as they tallied 15 to the Clippers' 5. Minerva gained three by passing, 10 by rushing and two by penalties. Columbiana, held to five yards in the first half, gained three first downs by rushing and two through the penalty route as it rushed a total 105 yards of which 69 was along the ground.

THE LIONS PILED UP 370 yards of combined rushing and passing statistics as they threw for 154 yards and marched for another 216 yards. Minerva lost 90 yards while the Clippers were penalized 51 yards for various infractions of the rules.

Outstanding player of the game was Minerva's Dourm. The light, little (5'4") senior carried the ball for seven plays and ran 94 yards for an average carry of 13.5 yards. Last night's touchdowns gave Dourm more than 30 points for the young season.

Minerva goes to Leontonia next Friday and Columbiana is host to Centfield.

Flowering Shrubs Make Fine Hedges

By ALLAN SWENSON
(Written for NEA Service)

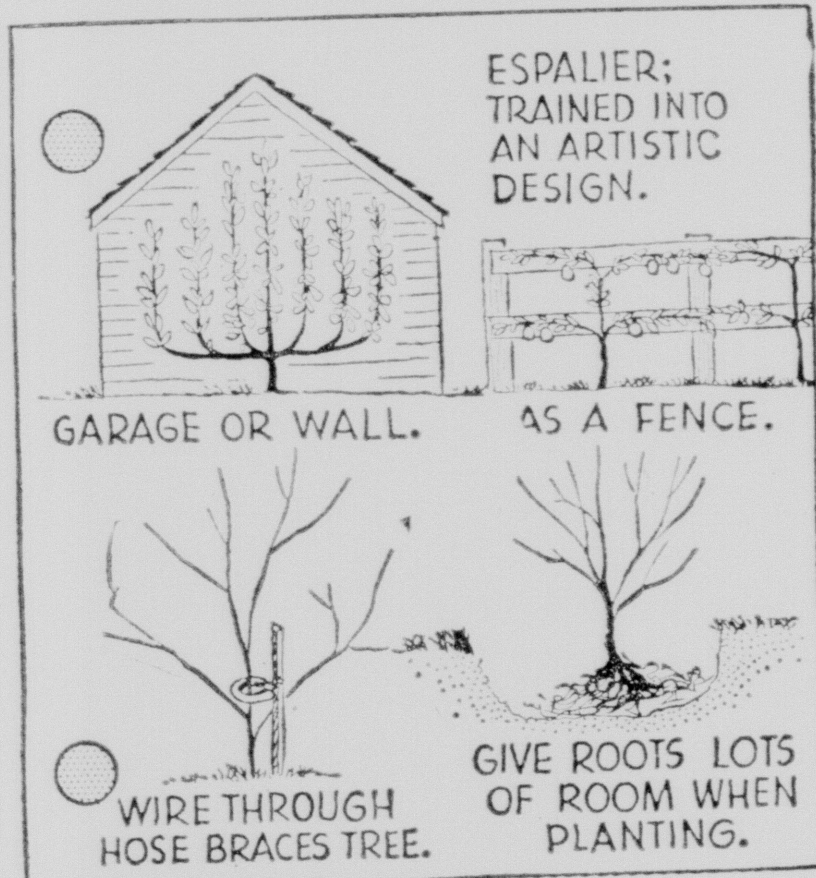

For distinctive hedges, plant flowering shrubs this year. Which ever you want—tall windbreaks or low borders, privacy or landscaping beauty—there are dozens of flowering shrubs just right for your home grounds.

Let your imagination be your guide in selecting flowering hedges. You can flank a pathway with dwarf hollyhush cranberry, mark a property line with white-flowered, fragrant mock orange or screen unsightly views with stately weeping hemlock.

With practicality in mind, you can even put shrubs to work for you, producing berries and fruit for your table or feed for birds and wildlife. A hedge can be as versatile as you desire.

ONE THING that shrubs can not do is grow overnight. Consider how shrubs and hedges fit your landscaping needs early in your landscaping planning. Then you'll enjoy their increasing beauty year after year.

For early blooming hedges, you can use forsythia, fragrant snowball or beauty bush. Spirea, mock orange and even lilac are adaptable to informal plantings. Your local nurseryman can tell you which will do best in your soil and which are hardy in your climate. Shrubs grown locally usually are acclimated to your area.

Flowering shrubs are best suited to informal hedges, while formal hedges are attractive, remember that they require extra attention.

THERE ARE decorative shrubs for every type of hedge. To set apart your outdoor living area or block unsightly views, choose shrubs that grow taller and fuller. Evergreens such as hemlock, upright yews or holly might be best for those purposes. As background for flowers or as showpieces by themselves, medium hedges of barberry, spirea or floribunda roses are fine to use on property lines.

Use dwarf fruit trees as a hedge; row, grapevines and berry bushes can separate areas and provide fruit, too.

WHEN PREPARING to plant a hedge, imagine it 10 years from now. Give the shrubs room for expansion, in height and in width.

County Courts' Backlog Of Cases Increases

LISBON — The backlog of cases of the Columbiana County common pleas courts increased by 11 during September, according to a report submitted by the Clerk of Courts office to the administration assistant to the Supreme Court.

The courts had 773 cases pending Sept. 1 and 102 cases were filed during the month, making a total of 875. The courts disposed of 113 cases, leaving a balance of 762 on Oct. 1.

Sixty-four cases were tried by the courts, 11 were cognovit and default judgments and 33 were settled and dismissed.

The Court of Appeals had 12 cases starting Sept. 1, but disposed of six cases, leaving six cases still pending.

Thoroughly prepare the soil as you would for single shrubs. A long trench or individual holes should be wide enough for roots to spread out naturally, deep enough so the shrubs will stand as deep as they stood in the nursery.

Most deciduous shrubs are sold "bare-root" in a dormant state. Others are in balls of earth. Most evergreens are sold that way.

After planting either type, water well to eliminate air pockets. Then prune back branches to give the shrubs a strong start and compensate for root loss. Apply complete fertilizer in the spring and fall.

Meeting on Crossing Signals Postponed

LISBON — A meeting of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission, Pennsylvania Railroad officials and the county commissioners, scheduled for Thursday in Columbus, was postponed until Oct. 20, at the request of the railroad.

The meeting was called on a county request for installation of mechanical warning lights at the Moultrie crossing on Rt. 172 in West Township.

Soldiers Relief Group Reports on Expenses

LISBON — The Columbiana County Soldiers Relief Commission, reports expenditures of $36,614.13 so far this year.

The total spent last year was $55,236.58, and in 1957, $19,150.71.

BODY DISCOVERED
CLEVELAND (AP)—A 76-year-old man, believed to have been hit by a train, was found dead Friday night alongside the Nickel Plate Road's overpass at West 44th Street. Police identified the man as Steve Cseplo, of Cleveland. They said his wife, Rose, had reported him missing several hours before the body was found.

Reading Workshop Set At Columbiana School

COLUMBIANA — Parents of pupils in the first grade have been invited to attend the Columbiana schools' second annual reading workshop, to be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Dixon school.

Raymond Cole, elementary principal, will be moderator for the session, which will include discussions by the following teachers:

Mrs. Margaret Brungard, "How Parents Can Help in a Modern Reading Program"; Mrs. Kathryn Pine, "What Is Meant by Primer and First Reader?"; Miss Arlene Schaal, "How Is Beginning Reading Taught?"; Mrs. Doris Dowd, "Reading Readiness"; and Mrs. Olive Toot, "Evaluation of Kindergarten and Special Problems".

Following the meeting, teachers will meet with parents in the various first grade rooms for discussions of special problems. Any parents, in addition to those with children in the first grade, are welcome to attend the workshop, Cole said.

THE HISTORICAL Society of Columbiana and Fairfield Township will hold its annual special meeting at 8:15 p.m. Monday, Oct. 12, at Grace United Church. Annual reports will be made and new trustees will be named. Atty. Jack D. Kuhlman will be the speaker.

Four members of Kiwanis Club plan to attend sessions of the Ohio District convention of the service club Sunday through Wednesday at Cleveland. They are Harold Armstrong, president, K. T. Gornley, immediate past president, Ryan Snyder and Lloyd Crawford.

A DEMONSTRATION of new ideas for holiday table decorating will be presented at the Towasi Circle meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Church House. Devotions will be conducted by Mrs. Jesse Terrence. Hostesses will be Mrs. Roxie Moser, Mrs. Austin Bowman, Mrs. Hilda Bender, Mrs. William Drasdo and Mrs. Ruth Lehman.

Miss Barbara Ann Balke of D. L. Columbiana, has enrolled at Ohio State University. A 1959 Columbiana High School graduate, she plans to major in medical technology.

Miss Irene Blank of Columbiana, former teacher at the Gumbert Industrial School for Girls in Pittsburgh, discussed "Rehabilitation of Teen-age Girls" when she appeared as guest speaker at the Business & Professional Women's Club meeting this week.

Mrs. Hazel Rearick was program chairman. The club will join in observance of National Business Women's Week Oct. 4, through 10.

OFFICERS for the 1959-60 school year have been elected by the six classes in the Columbiana senior and junior high schools.

Seniors—Larry Reed, president; Thomas Logan, vice president; Autumn Hoover, treasurer; Leanne Gurney, secretary; Sally Way, social chairman; Gerry Wise, girls' athletic chairman, and Carlyle Elser, boys' athletic chairman.

Juniors—Kenneth Bailey, president; Otomars Vestfals, vice president; Aija Grins, secretary; Loretta Foertch, treasurer; Ruth Vinalins, business manager; Marcia Roth, assistant business manager; Thomas White, assistant business manager; Sandra Kiehl, girls' social chairman, and Don Culp, boys' social chairman.

Sophomores—Ralph Beck, president; Mary Anderson, vice president; Paula Roth, secretary; David Garrod, treasurer; David Bailey, boys' social chairman; Kenny Gallagher, boys' athletic chairman; Lynn Paulson, girls' social chairman, and Becky Way, girls' athletic chairman.

Freshmen—Tim Smith, president;

Penny White, vice president; Grace Gloss, secretary; Jane Hutter, treasurer; Tom Pfund, boys' athletic chairman; Gail Spanabel, girls' athletic chairman; Judge Wyatt, boys' social chairman, and Sandra Stahl, girls' social chairman.

MAN INDICTED

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Billy Joe Schaffer, 24, was indicted for first-degree murder here Friday by the Lawrence County Grand Jury. He was arrested in Oklahoma City Aug. 23 for passing bad checks. Schaffer is accused of strangling Mrs. Emma Remy, 75, his former school teacher, and setting fire to her house Feb. 21, 1958.

Lions Club Festival Draws Large Crowd

LISBON — A large crowd attended the second night of the Lions Club's fall festival on the square here Friday night.

Mary Beth Beall of Salem, won the first place award in the amateur contest, with a song and tap dance routine. Charles Carder of Leetoma was second with a piano solo. Joey Mellon of West Point was third with an accordion solo. Proceeds of the festival are earmarked for the club's sight seeing fund.

CHURCH APPOINTEE

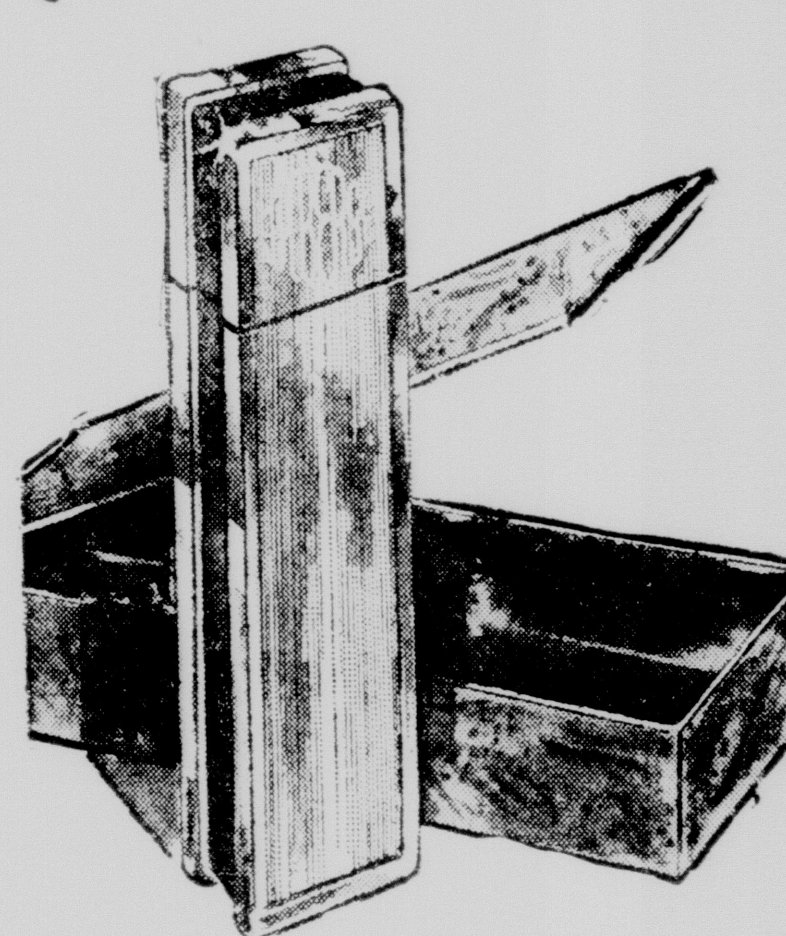

William Milford Correll of Cleveland was recently named Christian Science committee on publication for the state of Ohio.

Mr. Correll takes over the one-man committee post that had been held by Ralph F. Stewart since 1950. In his new post, Mr. Correll represents the Christian Science movement in dealing with the press, legislators, school administrators and public officials.

HITS 2 BRIDGES

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Damaging two bridges in two months was too much for Frank Derfield of Rt. 2, Wheelersburg. He said he was quitting his job following a crash Friday in which his 17-ton cement mixing truck hit a bridge. Last month a Lawrence County bridge collapsed under his truck.
